

System Model of Battery Module Using CFD Thermal Analysis

Gabriel Gálik ^{a)}, Michal Miloslav Uličný, Šimon Berta, and Juraj Paulech

*Institute of Automotive Mechatronics
Faculty of Electrical Engineering and Information Technology
Slovak University of Technology in Bratislava
Ilkovičova 3, 841 04 Bratislava, Slovak Republic*

^{a)} Corresponding author: gabriel.galik@stuba.sk

Abstract. The article describes part of our initial work in creating a comprehensive system level model of an automotive battery pack. This article is focused on the reference thermal analysis that was performed as ground work for follow up work with model order reduction and eventually digital twin building.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This work was supported by HORIZON EU "FreeTwinEV" project no. 101159989 and by the project of the internal FEI STU call Innovative Batteries and Battery Systems for e-Mobility Applications (BATSYS).